This site allows you to perform two keyboard macros: One macro for the main website - And another one to the page in question - Both macros are available in the preferences. For more information: You can also create your own macros, if you want. To do this, you must first register with the site. Then visit the site where you want the macro to be used. In this case, it's For the user name, you'll need the username of the site, which is "kbd" (use the upper case version) For the password, use the password that you created when you registered. If you have any questions, feel free to email me. RE: KBD.TELUS.NET Anonymous, Thanks for the tip. I've registered on that site, and looked at the macro page. But I'm not getting any response on my registration request. Does it usually take a few days to be processed? RE: KBD.TELUS.NET Hi, I just got an email back from them today, but it sounds like they've got some system problems that they're working on. They're asking if they should put me on the wait list for now until things are back to normal. RE: KBD.TELUS.NET Using the information in the registration page, I've created a macro that opens my preferred link in a new tab in Firefox. 77a5ca646e
