Amethyst Web2App

Web to application (aka Web2App) technology provides a unified way to use your existing web application in the native desktop framework. This combines the performance and look of a desktop application with the convenience and ease of use of a web site. Amethyst provides a number of powerful features, most of which are available through the simple built-in configuration interface. For more complex configurations, you can automate this process and customize the actions of your web applications. Though it can be installed as both a desktop application, or a web application, Amethyst is ideally suited as a desktop app. It can be used, for example, as an alternative to Adobe Flash-based content on your desktop, or as an alternative to the Windows or Mac OS X native applications. Amethyst uses a web-based configuration system with a simple interface to allow you to easily configure your applications with just a few clicks of the mouse. You can integrate Amethyst with your web applications to create a stand-alone app that requires no installation. What's new in version 1.5.4? * Added the ability to report a bug in the installer; if you encounter an issue, please send an email to support@yeshasteps.com. * Remixed under the hood to optimize performance; there are several new features as a result. * Improved error logging; bugs should now be reported to the installer, and more thoroughly described in the log file. * Added the ability to generate standalone standalone apps; developers will be able to embed apps directly into their web sites. * Improved the project templates that support it; there are several new templates, and the installer now checks for older templates to no longer install them unnecessarily. What's new in version 1.5.3? * Improved performance thanks to several fixes and optimizations. * Added a new project template that supports installers for both the Mac and Windows platforms. * Added a new keyword for keyboard shortcuts in the configuration file. * Added a new option to allow encrypted web services (HTTPS). What's new in version 1.5.2? * Added support for versioning in the installer; this means that you can now specify versions of the application. * Added the ability to update your Amethyst installations over the Internet; this helps to ensure that the application is always up to date. * Added an option to disable the activation of b7e8fdf5c8
