Falling trees and tunnels have made their way to multiplayer chess, and will randomly fall across the map. Collect these and use them to create bridges and paths for your troops to cross. Streamlined system of managing your armies and deploys. Work with your allies in your own base to maximize synergies while protecting your resources. Units have multiple awareness ranges, which are determined by their faction and basic intelligence level. Battlefield terrain and weather have a direct effect on unit awareness, giving you more tactical options than just waiting for your enemy to walk right into your base. Artistic and design details that help to reinforce the theme and atmosphere of chess. What we're working on now: - Additional tuning and balancing - AI improvements - New commander system with different types - Ranked PvP matchmaking - Better tutorials and a more approachable learning curve - New PVP modes and custom scenarios - New Battle Pass system with premium content - New leveling and skill progress system - New map tiles *Please note that this is an early access game. You will experience many bugs and quirks. We are actively investigating feedback before releasing a fully polished game. Please do not report any bugs without a lot of info and screenshots. Any detailed reports are being passed on to our developers. This is the first time I've had a game release on steam, and it is with heavy hesitation that I open this game with these substandard descriptions to the marketplace. I know I can deliver a game that is as good as the hype, and my team and I have been working hard to that end, but this is a very very long road, and we have been inundated with other jobs that have kept us from focusing on it. -Any feedback, suggestions, and help is welcome. Thanks! And thank you to the moderators, have a great day! This is not my full life in gaming, but I will show the features of the game. I'm mainly focus on the mid-high rating games. My top of the game is around master. There is always 3 to 5 games going on. On the day, I'm always on, and most of the times, I'm trying to beat the higher rated player to get the gold cards. The game is intended to be played on a chess board with chess pieces. There are over 500 pieces, including upgrades and alternate forms. Every unit is useful in a unique way. Units utilize weather, terrain, how hard they hit, and a lot more

He said that they had to avoid the strategy of "attack" against other parties. The far right party founded by Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, whose posters of party leaders were widely shared in the political arena over the weekend, has reached a total of 1,5 million votes in the current local elections. Aksoy said that this growing impression of the party was removed by the Ergenekon court of prosecutors. "What can we do? ... by now, thanks to this trial, the image of the country is changed for the better," he said, adding, "the last 7 years have ruined the image of Germany." The party, which also drew bans on elements of the traditional Turkish political alliance in Germany, emerged in 2013 with the intention of reversing the post-World War One Nuremberg Laws. And over the past 7 years, they have attempted to transfer 100,000 mainly former Turkish immigrants to Germany
