Nearly 150 residents were evacuated from a fast food restaurant Tuesday after being exposed to carbon monoxide and chlorine fumes. KPLC-TV reported that it began receiving calls about an odor at McDonald's at 18941 Sunset Blvd. in West Oak Plaza in Shreveport around 10 a.m. It said the employees called dispatchers and an emergency medical services crew rushed to the restaurant and the 200 people there were evacuated.

Shreveport Fire Department Capt. Daryl Cooper said officials were told that no one was injured by the fumes. "There was a bad odor," he said. The restaurant reopened around 2 p.m., and the next day it was temporarily closed.

About the Author There are occasions when you learn that you know very little about someone. This post is one such occasion. This is the story of mine and Erin's friend, Terry. My childhood friend's name is, strangely, Terry. It's a name that you would expect to be adopted into a family, but isn't. Terry grew up in a family of four sons in a small town outside of San Diego. She began an adult life without the benefit of a father, unmarried, and without much in the way of familial support. Long ago, when we were kids, Terry lived an itinerant life. She moved from place to place with different friends and family members, often taking on more than one job to make ends meet. Sometimes she'd

Interface

The interface is user-friendly and has a variety of stylish options. We were pleased to learn that a characteristic feature of the interface was becoming more and more sought after, as many games start to adopt similar interfaces.

Controls

The interface is easy and intuitive to use. With the touch screen, you can enjoy an easy and speedy game experience. Simply tap where you want to move and items and characters will appear where you tap. By design, your left thumb is positioned automatically on the Touch Pad, meaning you can easily perform actions while using other game controls.
