What's new in Elden Ring:

In this deck, we present 5 different decks of cards, one for each day of the week.

The decks are meant to be used as mandatory cards for various games, but they're also great for just playing cards around the table or with friends.

Each deck contains 42 card, meaning that there are six cards for each of the 6 suits. This means that there should be 6 cards of the same suit if you want to draw them more than once, so you should have 10 "?" cards left for other purposes.

The benefits of using these decks are:

- They're specifically created for the games that they're useful for. There's no filler, no boring cards or useless cards.
- The designs are great for creating your own mental images, whether you're playing at home, playing with friends, or playing with one of these decks.
- They're harmonious and balanced due to their 6/6/6/6/6/6 structure. Use the decks in their entirety or break them up and have fun creating interesting combinations.
- You'll find there's an optimal structure for nearly every game, which means that the decks are good for all the online, tabletop, or card RPGs that you can play.
- It's fun using them to learn the other players' games (whether they use the decks in their entirety or not), and vice versa. A good resource for improving your mental image.
- They're great alternatives to "free-to-play cards", since they're balanced so you never end up having to spend your precious rupees on things like common cards, decks, or online packs.
