this oxygen-nitrogen gas mixture is toxic and should be considerably exhausted. A known method for desulphurizing a flyash is a method for absorbing and adsorbing. The contents of the following patent documents are incorporated herein by reference. 1. A Finnish publication No. 79317 discloses a method for desulphurizing a flyash, in which the flyash is fed to a reactor vessel, and a portion of the flyash is flushed out of the vessel while a portion of the flyash is retained in the vessel. A heated desulphurizing gas is added in the vessel and the flyash and the desulphurizing gas are heated with a high temperature. The reaction takes place at the flyash/desulphurizing gas interface, and the flyash is desulphurized on the desulphurizing gas side. 2. A Finnish publication No. 47912 discloses a process for desulphurizing a raw material of a high-temperature combustion furnace. In this process, a reactor is provided and a desulphurizing gas is fed into the reactor. The raw material to be treated is supplied to a cylinder at the reactor. The e79caf774b
