I would consider using a ListView, but I will modify the code so that it will always return a complete ListView if it can be made to do that. Otherwise I'll take this as an example of a ListView that has hit various Gotchas in design and not handled them gracefully. A federal judge in Los Angeles ruled Friday that the owners of deepfake porn site Deep Nude Girls should be held responsible for what they say is illegal pornography and of a criminal nature. The ruling, made by U.S. District Judge William Alsup, came in a suit filed against the founders of Deep Nude Girls in April by the U.S. porn site XHamster, which accuses the defendants of copyright infringement and trade infringement of their trademarks. The litigation is the latest in a long line of high-profile cases involving deepfakes that have come to light. Such fakes are a type of image spoofing that alters an image of someone without their knowledge to replace their face with one of someone else, typically a porn star, to create a pornographic video that isn't always safe to share. The ruling, first reported by the Daily Beast, found that one founder of Deep Nude Girls, who goes by the username of "fleshlightf," created a deepfake of adult actress Ali Love in an image featuring her face on top of another adult actress's body. The deepfake was linked to the woman featured in the altered photo and was presented to Alsup as an example of an infringing work. Alsup ruled that "fleshlightf"

was the owner of the copyrighted work at issue, and therefore he should be held responsible for damages. "He took a significant portion of Xhamster's business, created a copyright infringing video and then shared it with [a third party]," Alsup wrote in his ruling. �
