The hottest movie role of the year is probably already filled. It is going to be hard to find a hot young man who can say he was offered that role on Eddie Murphy's How to Be a Player. Especially if he is a man who enjoys Dark Comedy. David Groh, Executive Producer and Executive Producer of Magic Mike XXL, has come to an interesting conclusion. There is no more room at the Inn for the new young hot man to fill this role. That is why Groh has cast rising big screen star and young Hollywood heartthrob Michael B. Jordan. Michael has two film credits, this year's new thriller The Six Dollar Jesus and last year's thriller The Equalizer. In the last three months he has also earned critical praise for his supporting role in Antoine Fuqua's upcoming remake of Training Day. B. Jordan is best known for his TV roles including his role on the hit show Empire as well as regular appearances on the VH-1 reality show Basketball Wives. In the past he has auditioned for roles on major projects including X-Men: Days of Future Past and Superman Returns. He even looked at the role of Superman in Man of Steel.

“We were scouting for leading men in Miami and Michael showed up at the location where we were casting “Magic Mike,”” says Groh. “He had a great attitude and an incredible look. He was really hot and I immediately thought of Eddie Murphy and how great he was in that role 0cc13bf012
