Q: Setting javascript locally I am writing a node.js application. For one feature, I would like to use Closure library. I don't want to put ClosureJS framework to server, that's way I set it globally. What I am missing is how can I add it to specific module I am developing, without touching global JS. Is there a local JS object where I can add stuff like jquery, closure or any other? I know you can put something like this in main.js, but I think in this case it gets executed without node.js environment, right? // =

require('closure-library/closure/goog/base.js');

A: If you're using browserify, you can wrap your module with Browserify's library:

browserify -o foo.js -s closure For node you can use the browserify-shim or browserifyshim-cli libraries. For node, you'd only want to add the commonJS config option: browserify -o foo.js -s commonJS Q: Android: Why is the background shown black when starting an activity? Why is the background shown black in the following scenario? public class MainActivity extends Activity { @Override public void onCreate(Bundle savedInstanceState) {
super.onCreate(savedInstanceState);
setContentView(R.layout.main); Button b = (Button)findViewById(R.id.mybutton);
b.setOnClickListener(new OnClickListener() {
