Feed And Grow: Fish V0.7.4 Money Hack

Due to feedback, the combat system's damage scaling system has been completely redone. Depending on the weapon's type, certain skills will do almost no damage and others will do more and more damage the more you spend on them. This is much more accurate than before and makes for a more interesting and unique battle system. Additionally, the new system helps to normalize damage scaling across all weapons, which makes variations in the relative strength of a weapon and/or player a thing of the past. The market has been cleaned up a little bit to bring it up to the same standards as the rest of the game. All uses and values of resources are now tracked to reflect the actual value of a resource, rather than the value of the current market price. The player can now also be able to sell items to the market now. If there are any illegal materials, they can be thrown into a jail. Use of the jail is now done by the NPC in charge of the jail. The jail guards will not if your materials are listed as contraband and throw you in jail if so. They can also guard you some credit towards being freed. Be careful: they will catch you if you try to release them. The bank has had few major changes. The first is adding a "social" quarter to all recipes. Recipes which are only relevant to nearby pieces of land will now have this added to their costs. A variety of new fish and resources has been added. Fish will be split into four tiers that will no longer respawn unless you need them in the future. Higher tiers will have more limited spawns and with a higher chance of dying to predators. If you need some fresh fish, head to town. If you're looking to free some jail cells, head to town. If you're trying to test some new recipes, do so at the campfire.
